

Legal Notice to Purchasers of Ocean Spray Products

On November 29, 2018, the United States District Court for the Southern District of California certified a class action alleging that the makers of Ocean Spray Products (the “Products”) falsely and deceptively marketed the Products by claiming that they are made with “No artificial flavors.” The plaintiff alleges that the Ocean Spray Product labels stating that the Products contain “No artificial flavors,” are false and misleading because the Products contain undisclosed artificial flavoring ingredients, either dl-malic acid, fumaric acid, or both. The class action seeks to force the manufacturers and advertisers of the Products, Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc. and Arnold Worldwide, LLC, to stop the dissemination of this allegedly false and misleading advertising message and to make other appropriate relief. No trial has occurred yet on Plaintiff’s allegations.
